DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 13, 16, 27 and 28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Clarks et al (US 4,968,303).

Clarks teaches an injector for injecting fluid from a syringe (20) mounted thereon, comprising a housing (generally 28); and a retaining mechanism (82) made of segments (82, 86) being moveable from a relaxed (Fig 6) to a tensioned state (Fig 7) by rotation of the syringe (see dotted lines 51, Fig 1) to release the syringe, the retaining mechanism comprising a flexible (radially expandable) elliptical (Fig 7) or circular (Fig 6) ring.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 12 and 29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Clarks as applied to claims above, and further in view of Hitchins et al (US 5,944,694).

Clarks does not teach a sensor adapted to read encoding information from the syringe.

Hitchins teaches a sensor (194) for reading information from a syringe body.

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to use because it has been held that improving similar devices in the same way is within the skill of an ordinary worker in the art. Using a sensor would allow the user to determine the size or contents of the syringe, for example.

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 18-20 and 26 are allowed.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims have been considered but not persuasive. A circle is an ellipse where the eccentricity of the ellipse is zero. Therefore Fig 6 shows a flexible elliptical ring in the relaxed state. Fig 7 shows the ring as circular. The rejection is maintained.

Conclusion

2. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
